Club career Born in Vic, Cantabria, Aguirre graduated from hometown Racing de Santander's youth system. He started his career with Celta de Vigo B in the 2002–03 season, making his first team debut on 3 October 2003 in a Segunda División B away match against Córdoba CF B (1–0 win). Aguirre was promoted to Celta's main squad for the 2004–05 campaign, and played 20 La Liga games in his first year as the Castile and León side was relegated. In the 2007–08 season he was definitely promoted, starting in 29 league games and contributing with three goals. On 10 June 2008, Aguirre signed a new two-year contract with Celta, with an option for an additional year. After the 2012–13 campaign, he left for fellow league club Deportivo de La Coruña. Aguirre returned to Celta on 21 June 2014, after agreeing to a four-year deal with the same club. On 24 August 2016, after suffering relegation, he signed for fellow league team CD Lugo. International career Aguirre was a youth international for Spain, and played under-18 and under-19 levels. He was called up to the senior squad in June 2008, after suffering a serious injury that could have ended his career, and was an unused member at UEFA Euro 2012.
